

Color Palette –Lake District

Lake District houses along this main residential street, which forms WaterColor's east/west 'Land Axis', define the public way from the Town Lawn to the community's eastern entrance on County Road 395. Their coloration is elegant and simple, limited to a few colors per house. Siding is painted a spectrum of muted tones. Porches and trim are a range of off-white, relating them to the houses along the Town Lawn and the multi-family buildings along County Road 30-A, creating a unified linear street identity. Special elements are expressed in darker tones.

Cerulean Park – should be in the same range of colors but a brighter more open palette.

Town Center 30A East – should be in the same range of colors but a brighter more open palette.
